James Marquardt words on David

‘On behalf of the entire AVRfreaks.net community there is a great sadness in our community from every corner of the world that knew David and learned a tremendous amount from him over the years. His patience, and occasional curmudgeonly side are/were legendary.

David was a top contributor on “The Freak Show” as I affectionately call it. I cannot count how many times he has bailed me out by not giving me the answer, but by paving the path towards my figuring it out and his confirmation of my findings. One of his famous sayings was “GO ON!!” and the trick was to figure out in which direction he was referring to. He did this with everyone, and if you proved lazy, ‘The surly Curmudgeon’ would let you know in a polite but stern tone that he was done. LOL!

We do not delete accounts as in most cases, the loss of information would ruin the thread, and in Davids case, the pure brilliance of his posts would be a terrible loss if the account was removed. There is no better way to memorialise someone, other than to allow others to learn from that person long after they have moved on. And since we are a worldwide community, Davids talents will be known far beyond a small town in Kent.’

Thanks Jim

So lovely to hear from a forum David spent a lot of time on and apparently there is another contributor who lives in Wormshill!
