David Prentice RIP

Many here will have known David for his always helpful contributions to the forum, with a particular focus on all types of displays, where his wide expertise and precise and structured approach, to solving problems for others, were highly regarded. His manner was, without exception, courteous and respectful.

Sadly, we have learned from press reports that David was killed in a road accident on October the 18th last year, while cycling in his home village of Wormshill, Kent. Some of the tragic details can be found here: Inquest into death of David Prentice who died in Wormshill near Sittingbourne 49

He was a wonderful asset to the forum and will be long remembered.
