Well here we are, officially at the end of the summer holidays 🌞 I'm always so bittersweet when the time comes for the boys to go back to school 📚 but things I'm most definitely NOT going to miss hearing:

🙄 This house is so boring

🗑️ There is nothing good to eat (maybe cos you've already eaten everything I bought today sonny)

🛒 Can you please buy some more good snacks, not the cheap ones from Aldi?

🕒 Can I stay up for another 10 mins (no, because it's already midnight 😞)

📱 You're so mean. I'm the only one with screen time (really? 😏)

👕 Why haven't you washed these clothes? (because you only wore them for 5 mins yesterday, you numpty)

The subtle grey tones of this amticoflooring Aged Oak flooring, laid in a herringbone pattern compliment the Oxford Blue Masterclass kitchen by hawkkb beautifully in this space.

A lot of the time when working on a renovation project, it's not 100% complete when we leave, so it's great to be sent photos of the finished room to see how it all came together! 🥰
